

Our commitment to our community has not changed before or since the Janet Jackson incident. This proposed rule is basically "all are guilty", and guilty until proven innocent.

Cost of equipment and administration of the recorded files creates another burden for small market broadcasters. If enacted, can we deduct the costs from our ever-increasing regulatory fees?

How many indency complaints are received by the Commission concerning small market broadcasters? Enough to warrent the expense and time involved to small market broadcasters? Do we have to produce transcripts or tape to anyone who may have thought they heard something they did not like....more administrative cost. Do you think this rule, if enacted, will violate the spirit, if not the letter, of the paperwork reduction act?
